APSA PUBLICATIONS

APSA publications began in 1956 with APSA News: the Bulletin of the Australian Political Studies Association (edited by Henry Mayer). This roneod Bulletin was published for ten years, 1956-1965, and ten volumes (edited by Ian Wilson 1963-65).

At the annual conference of APSA in 1965, the Association became the Australasian Political Studies Association. The first number of Politics, edited by Douglas McCallum, P.D. Marchant and Henry Mayer, emerged in May 1966. In 1969, editorial responsibility was transferred to Henry Mayer and Owen Harries, and Henry Mayer became sole editor in 1971. Since 1976, publication of Politics has been undertaken by an Editorial Board with Dean Jaensch as Editor.

From I (2) to XIII (2), an important component of Politics has been a feature by Henry Mayer commenting on books, pamphlets, journals, etc. This component, variously titled, has appeared in every issue since I (2) except VI (2), VIII (1) and XII (2). Some of the publications mentioned in this section are indexed in the Book Review section, but the increase in the number of items surveyed by Professor Mayer made this impracticable for IX and successive volumes.

Special issues of Politics were published:

H. Mayer (ed.), Labor to Power (replacing VIII (1), May 1973);

D. Jaensch (ed.), The Politics of New Federalism (replacing XII (2), November 1977).

P. Weller and D. Jaensch (eds.), Responsible Government in Australia (replacing XV (2), November 1980).
